Harte Research Institute for Gulf of Mexico Studies, Texas A&M University – Corpus Christi,
December 2022 – Present

Legal expert on a broad range of statutory, regulatory, and policy issues related to Gulf of Mexico, including drafting legal memoranda on federal laws related to mariculture, fishery management, energy development, protected species, and habitat conservation

Senior Research Counsel Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, University of Mississippi School of Law, Oxford, MS, June 2017 – November 2022

- Co-PI on $6.49 million grant for second-longest living shoreline in Mississippi; convened team of state, local, and federal government representatives to collaborate on proposal with non-governmental organizations
- Researched and wrote comprehensive Guide to Fishery Management, an online resource explaining the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act and related laws
- Designed, edited, managed quarterly web publication, Water Log. Recent editions feature energy development, coastal resilience, law enforcement, and environmental justice in the Gulf of Mexico. Serves as a reliable reference on issues related to the Gulf Coast
- Collaborated with city employees across Alabama and Mississippi on multiple projects, including stormwater protection, green infrastructure, and debris, helping to target environmental issues by revising ordinances
- Advised on permitting issues with group seeking first commercial finfish mariculture operation in the Gulf of Mexico
- Performed multiple studies on invasive species including statutory and regulatory reviews; conducted a state-wide survey on aquatic invasive species funded by the State of Mississippi

Legal Writer/Editor, LexisNexis, Matthew Bender, October 2015 – Present

- Co-author, California Insurance Law & Practice. Research and write updates for The Law of Hazardous Waste and Hydraulic Fracturing Law and Practice, analyzing federal and state case law, statutory, and regulatory changes; ensuring that analyses are legally correct

Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service, Washington, D.C., January 2007 – June 2015

- Served as senior legal expert for the Congressional Research Service (CRS) on natural resources, including the foundational and regulatory authorities for all federal land management agencies; the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA); and wildlife protection statutes such as the Endangered Species Act (ESA), the Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA), the International Whaling Convention, and the Migratory Bird Treaty Act
- Produced comprehensive written portfolio of authoritative, objective memoranda and reports in response to high-level Congressional inquiries on dozens of statutes. Produced reports on issues of first impression and of national significance such as the 2010 oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico
- Performed detailed, non-partisan analyses of federal agencies' interpretations of their authorizing and program-related statutes to meet tight deadlines. Memoranda include issues related to marine sanctuaries; the Submerged Lands Act; subsistence, indigenous, and aboriginal rights under federal lands and wildlife laws; wildlife conflicts with energy development on federal lands; Corps of Engineers issues related to irrigation, drought, and flooding in the Gulf of Mexico; and NEPA, ESA, and MMPA requirements for federal agencies
- Made presentations to senior representatives at stakeholder meetings, including meetings with Congressional Members on NEPA and natural resource laws, Members of the Parliament of Uganda on energy development, and Members of the United Nations Environmental Programme on international treaties protecting species
- Synthesized large amounts of information on a timely basis in consultation with agency staff and other experts to coordinate policy and draft innovative legislative proposals to advance agencies' organizational missions
- Testified before Congress on wildlife trade under the Lacey Act. CRS used a recording of testimony for training
- Received performance awards for written products and oral presentations on environmental law issues including seminars

Environmental Specialist, Arnold & Porter, LLP, New York, NY, December 2002 – January 2007

- Served as writer and contributing editor for LexisNexis Matthew Bender environmental publications: The Environmental Law Practice Guide, Brownfields Law and Practice, Environmental Impact Review in New York, and the monthly legal publication, Environmental Law in New York

- Performed in-depth legal research involving analyses of federal and state environmental cases, including examining significant cases on all federal pollution statutes
- Published legal articles and chapters on conservation, land use management, and site remediation
